Fotografia	 A black and white woodcut illustration depicting a man in a long, simple robe kneeling on the ground in a state of prayer or distress. His arms are raised, and his head is tilted upwards. He is positioned in the center of a village square. In the background, there are several buildings, including a church with a prominent steeple. The scene is rendered with fine lines and cross-hatching, creating a sense of depth and texture. The overall composition is framed within a rectangular border.
